Celerity Universal Fiber Optic DisplayPort Connector and Cable System

Step 1: Pre-wiring the Universal Fiber Optic (UFO) Cable

Celerity UFO cables are bi-directional and may be installed from the source or display location. Always observe proper techniques and best practices for installing fiber optic cables.

- Recommend using a fiber optic cable pulling eye and conduit compound or pulling lubricant.
- When taping a pulling eye or sleeve to the fiber optic cable, ensure that the tape secure point is 2”-3” away from the fiber optic connector.
- Never apply pressure on or pull from the fiber optic connector.
- Do not pinch fiber cable between fingers. Doing so may permanently damage the fiber optic cable.

Do not remove the protective caps from the fiber optic connectors until the Celerity TX or RX Connector Cable is ready to be attached to the fiber optic cable.

The precision fiber optic end surface on each Celerity Universal Fiber Optic Cable must be keep clean or signal transmission may fail.

Step 2: Attaching the T and R (transmitting and receiving) Connector Cables

Remove the protective cap one at a time from the T or R Connector Cables and the corresponding connector of the UFO cable. Immediately connect the two parts together using the supplied Celerity UFO Coupler. The T Connector Cable (transmitter) is attached at the source location and the R Connector Cable (receiver) is attached at the display location.

The fiber optic connectors and the coupler are keyed so that only the correct alignment is possible. If you encounter resistance, do not use force. Remove and check the connector ferrule for proper key orientation.

The T and R Connector Cables have guide pins and the UFO cable connectors have guide pin receptacles to ensure correct alignment.

Attaching the T and R connectors into the coupler will result in an audible click-lock. The connector lock may be released by pulling its blue center section towards the fiber optic cable. Gently pull the connector out from the coupler if necessary.

ALWAYS REPLACE THE PROTECTIVE CAP ON ALL FIBER OPTIC CONNECTORS WHEN EXPOSED. THE END SURFACE MUST BE KEPT CLEAN.
